When you took your oath of office you said you would uphold the Constitution. Have you read the Preamble? One item states "promote the general welfare". Welfare-definition: well-being-definition: health. So you swore to look out for the health of the citizens of the Town of Killingly. This resolution does just the opposite.

What have you done to make face masks and hand sanitizer available to the citizens of the town? Have you checked with the Killingly Business Association to see if help was needed to get these items or anything else so they can open safely? Did you ask businesses what else the town can do to make transitioning easier? What are you doing with the information you are learning now to prepare for round two later this year? Have you checked with food pantries to see what must be done to insure food security?

There are so many other things you could be doing at this time but no you have decided to make this political.

Subject: Reopen Killingly Businesses comment

Hello, before I make my comment regarding Killingly businesses reopening, I would like to introduce myself. My name is Andrew Lee and I've been a Killingly resident almost all my life. I didn't always live here, however... after high school I spent 8 years in the Army, including a 12 month deployment to Iraq. Why did I join the Army? Because I knew that freedom was more important than anything... even life itself! I wanted to defend that freedom; I wanted to defend the constitution. I would have gladly given my life to preserve the freedom this country once valued. When the British government tried to take our freedoms away, we rebelled. Many men fought, killed, and died to give us the freedom we have today. It seems, however, that it was all for nothing. It saddens me to see how little our government actually values freedom. It saddens me to see how little our government actually values the constitution. The executive orders issued by "King" Lamont are shameful, and quite frankly illegal. Legislators create laws, not Governors. And even then, legislators cannot create laws that are unconstitutional. I feel so ashamed of what our country has become, and I feel like my time in the military was completely pointless.

Now that my introduction is done, here is the actual comment I would like to make pertaining to Killingly businesses opening up: Privileges are granted by the government and can be taken away by the government. Fortunately working is NOT a privilege, it's a right. Rights are not granted by the government, and cannot be taken away without due process. Rights are inherent. Therefore the executive orders issued by "King" Lamont are invalid and, in fact, unconstitutional. With that being said, we do not need permission from "King" Lamont to exercise our rights, nor should we seek it. All businesses that want to open, should open right now. If every business in the state of Connecticut opened up right now... the King would be powerless. It would show him that we don't recognize his bogus authority. A King's authority is only as real as his subjects believe it to be.

Thank you for your time

Subject: Five Mile River Overlay protection

To the Planning and Zoning Commission:

I am a resident of 220 Stone Rd. in Dayville and I am concerned about the clear cutting that is being done at 199 and 217 Stone Rd. by the current owners. Attempts to get answers have proven futile as I have only heard back from Ann-Marie Aubrey once and not at all from Jonathan Blake as I was assured I would be. The clear cutting seems to be in direct violation of the Five Mile River Overlay Protection area. I know that several of my neighbors have contacted Town Hall and spoken at a Town Council meeting only to be stonewalled. It appears that no one is willing to be accountable for the actions that are being taken by the owners of the Stone Rd. property in question.

I would ask for an immediate cease and desist order and proper consequences applied as per Connecticut statute.
